FIRST NATIONS DAY

“Justice for Murdered and Missing Indigenous Women across U.S. and Canada”

This event is being hosted by the Native American Development Center. The purpose for this event is to bring justice to Indigenous women and families through educational community awareness on First Nations Day. This day is an educational event for the communities to come together to learn about Indigenous issues. There is an overrepresentation of Indigenous women who've been murdered and missing across the U.S. and Canada. This event fosters community engagement and collectively working together to combat important Indigenous issues. “Bismarck and Mandan” City Chief of Police, Indian Affairs Commission, and Tribal and local advocates will address the issues of murder and missing cases, drug trafficking, human & sex trafficking and domestic violence issues.
